We Are ISD

Indiana School for the Deaf enjoys a good reputation among state residential schools in this nation. It has a large student body, a beautiful campus, but most of all a program that continues to combine the old with the new, always changing to keep up with the times.

We have a program steeped with tradition yet ever changing. The foundations on which our school is built are strong just like the foundations of Alumni Hall

Mike Stultz, #14, holds the ball while Robbie Oberle, #31, kicks it. Scott Casey, #33, blocks #22 from St. Rita during the homecoming game which we won 56-0.

The ISD Cheerleaders: Susan Stafford, Shanon Maple, Jody Trojan, Oriole, Mary Kovatch sponsor, Rachele Whiteley, Bobbie Lucius, Lorrie O'Neal, Kim Holsapple, and Mike Mallory.

which will stand for many years. Yet inside a two-year remodeling project has renewed it for present and future use. The old wood was refurbished and bright new colors and lighting were added.

Not only have physical surroundings changed but classes have been added or reorganized to fit the time. The newly organized computer class provides now for our present and future needs. Changing life roles have tempted some boys to sign up for home economics, while the new nursery school program in primary unit provides much needed early training for two-and three-year old deaf children.

Because of the large influx of students deafened by rubella years ago, the mode of communication changed. The school adopted the policy of total communication, and sign language appeared in the classrooms. This large class, now seniors, along with those ahead and behind, show the world we are different yet the same. Regular academic classes are here to provide students with a high school education leading to a diploma. We have sports in which everyone can participate, playing against both public and other deaf schools. Although we live in the dormitory, we have activities for the students such as bowling, parties for special occasions, organizations and more. And like all teenagers everywhere, some students fall head over heels in love.

As this year comes to an end, ISD will again change with the times. Because of new vaccines, rubella is no longer a large factor of deafness. The enrollment at ISD will drop. Although fewer teachers and students will be involved, they will continue to strive for improvement and up-to-date education of deaf students so that they may better compete in a quickly changing world. SIGN OF OUR TIMES.

Early one gray morning sitting on the floor in Alumni Hall, Brian Hartwell, Yvonne Ackles, Teresa Massey, Krissie Loy, and Lisa Swartzell curiously get their first peek at their long-awaited senior pictures.

Daily Lives Are Affected

Science influences every students life; the weather, pets diseases, energy, and growth, are all studied in science. In the laboratory chemistry experiments and dissections are performed by the students providing good experimental learning. Mrs. Haskett, one of our science teachers, explains that students learn to follow directions and use laboratory tools which are skills necessary for many jobs. "The subject is difficult because much new vocabulary is learned and many new concepts introduced."

When asked about the new physics class, Mr. Stout explained, "Physics is the study of matter and energy and their interrelationships. It promotes the knowledge of the metric system and appreciation of accuracy in measurement and calculation." He also added laughingly, "I have proposed to my students that they find out what gravity is and what causes it and then perhaps they could have a 'Star Trek' environment."

"Wake up Peter Kappos!" Biology class will soon be over.

Mr. Stout helps James Kemp, Mike Stultz and Andrew Metz work with pulleys to see the mechanical advantage of different systems. Mechanical advantage is the number of times a machine will multiply a force.

Tracy Parker copies notes in Mrs. Haskett's biology class to study for her tests.

Mr. Squire tells Arlene Downing when to go to 200 as Scott Voltz and Debbie Kirby work on their programs. Bryan Manship pauses to concentrate.

During General Mathematics class Mrs. Jones answers Bruce Cloyd's division question.

Future Focuses On Math

Math seems to be the focus of the future. Technological progress demands we have a good math background. The state has increased its requirements for graduation from two to three years. When asked how they feel about math and how they teach it, Mrs. Linda Jones, Mr. Norman Brown, and Mr. Melvin Squire replied.

Math is challenging and interesting because it requires logical thinking. It is required in nearly all kinds of activities for the future. "I try to relate daily living situations and math skills so they can see that there is a meaning in what they are learning," says Mrs. Jones, general mathematics teacher. Karen Satterlee, a senior in geometry, finds her class interesting because it will help her in the future to prepare for a job. Mr. Brown thinks the computer age is here now. Mr. Squire says that because the computer age is here, students need to be aware of its impact in their lives. They need an understanding and some knowledge of using computers. Mathematics is required in nearly all kinds of work. If a student does well in math, his chance of success or promotion will be good."

Kelly McKee asks Ms. Hegge to help solve his equation with which he has been struggling.

Reading Is Essential

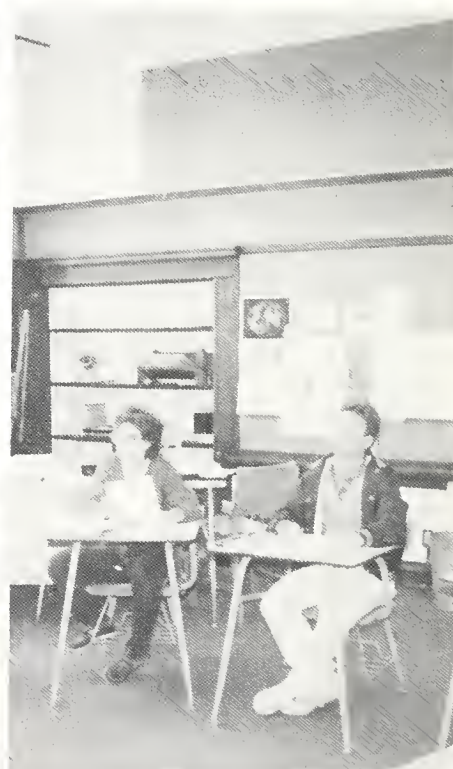

"Human beings need language to communicate. English builds and perfects that language; literature expands the mind through the many uses of languages. Also being able to read and write is essential to almost any job," says Mrs. Mary Kovatch, English and literature teacher.

Besides all of the reasons anyone needs to read, deaf people need to take literature and reading because they can't hear. Therefore, they must read to understand what is happening in the world.

Rachele Whitely, Noel Rivera, Rocky Murray, Kim Holsapple, Susan Ellis, and Brian Bippus listen to Mrs. Kovatch in literature class.

During study hall Regina Williams prepares for Mrs. Kovatch's literature class.

Teresa Massey and Brian Hartwell watch intently as Mrs. Olsen explains the lesson.

Language Is Communication

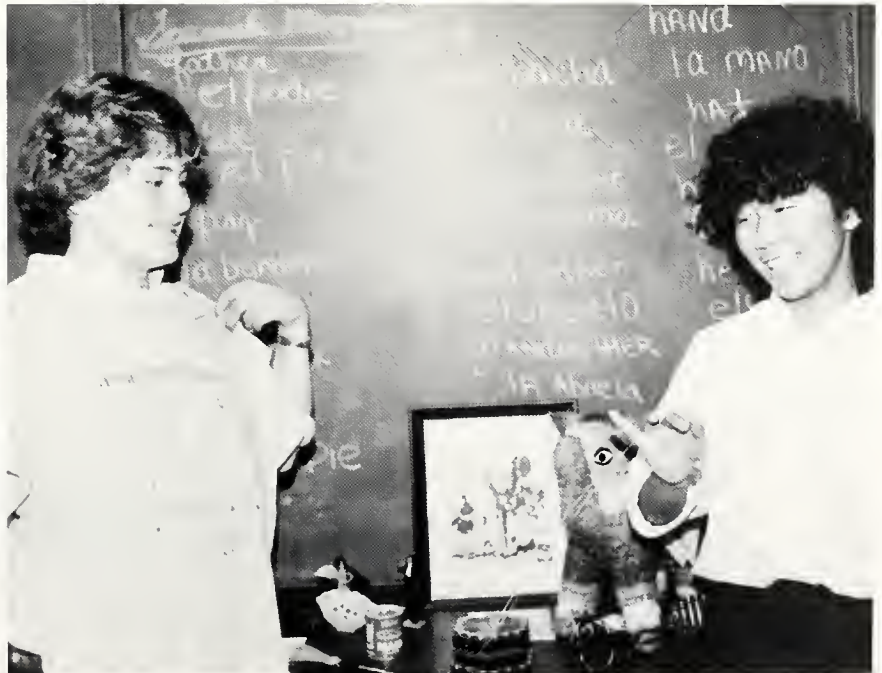

It is important to know how to communicate clearly with hearing people. English and language arts classes provide an opportunity to learn new and improve old written communication skills. We need these skills for future jobs, training programs and college.

Many colleges now require a foreign language for entrance. Therefore, ISD offers Spanish 1 to fulfill this requirement. Because language skills are especially difficult for deaf students, they are not the most popular classes. However, we all recognize their importance.

Rachele Whitely and Brian Bippus search for words in the unabridged dictionary to complete homework for library skills, a unit in Mrs. Cass's English class.

Spanish classes attend the "Mexico Espana OLE!" presented by the Boston Flamenco Ballet at the Hedback Community Theatre Nov. 10. Lisa Swartzell, Mike Riggins, Desira Brown, Claire Carr and Kim Holsapple enjoy pre-performance conversation.

Peggy Steinberger asks Kim Holsapple, "What does this T-shirt mean?" Kim explains it is the Spanish alphabet.

Planning Is The Key Word

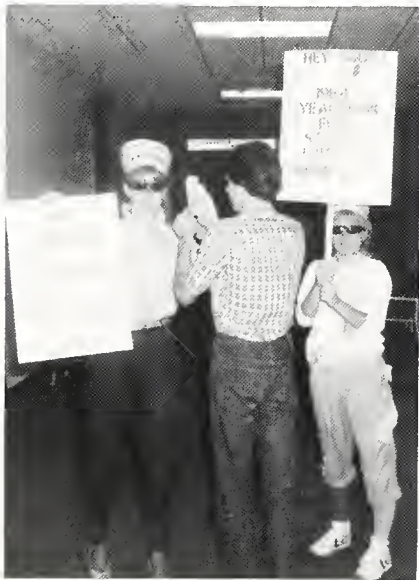

Layouts, inverted pyramids, body copy—all foreign words until you became involved in journalism. Although the yearbook has been around a long time, it was offered as a class for the first time this year. The junior English class produced The ISD Newsletter. Students learned many journalism skills. Both classes helped develop planning skills in small steps to reach a large goal, skills every student will need in their future. It was hard at first but easier as students became more accustomed to it.

Newspaper students covered the demonstration against CBS in September. CBS does not offer closed captioning of their TV programs at this time. The experience provided insight into human behavior. It also gave the students an idea of a reporter's job.

The yearbook presents our school to the public. It also provides a history book and memory book for students in the future as it records the year's happenings at ISD.

Before they leave for the demonstration against CBS, Carrie Scales, Jody Trojan, Regina Williams, and Peter Kappos

Regina Williams, Dwight Casler and Jody Trojan discuss which topic they will write in Mrs. Backus' journalism class for The ISD Newsletter.

We Learn As We Grow

Caskey gymnasium houses the health, physical education and driver's education classes.

Students are required to take Health and P.E. to graduate. They help us physically and mentally.

Most students are very amazed about what wonderful bodies we have. They get to know all parts of the system and watch movies to understand better.

To protect these bodies we have studied, students learn how to drive carefully and safely in driver's education. Because we have several streets on our large campus, they can know how to drive more safely before driving on public streets. It is fun and learning is important.

Mr. Blackwell, the driving ed. teacher, explains the hood release, door lock, and gauges to Mike Riggin, Dawn Ashley, Lisa Boone and Patti Cochran.

Compare Past With Present

Although these classes are not required for the student's future career, "Civics gives students the knowledge of how to live in the world. It teaches them about their government. All Americans need to study and understand their government," says social studies teacher, Tim Harrold.

Students should be motivated to learn history and civics. They learn to compare "the past with the present. A student cannot understand things that are happening now if they do not know some background."

One of the best field trips Mr. Grubb, Mr. Backus, and Mr. Harrold take their students on is to the Indiana State House to see how the government really works. Experience always teaches better than books and classrooms.

Richard McGuire and Denise Stiles listen to Ms. Summerlin, history teacher.

They Help Us Cope Daily

Daily living skills and speech classes help students learn how to cope, where to go, how to live, and how to be informed. These classes prepare them for their future. They need to know and learn about daily living. "Speech" is important because it prepares students for communicating with people and families outside of school. Students are learning speech skills to talk with people who don't know sign," replies Miss Baker who teaches speech. Ms. Hakes, in survival skills, plans situations for her students to role play and brings in things from the outside world trying to include the students in learning about living. That way they understand easier things about living.

During a race Gigi Bartholomew swiftly writes debits and credits on her ledger sheet; then passes it on to Scott Voltz, Regina Kyle, and Andy Taylor in accounting class.

Michelle Simpson and Mike Penn learn typing skills to use in the future.

Changing As Society Does

The Vocational department is changing. Before, only girls took home economics and typing, but now boys are also taking these classes. Our life roles in society are changing. Home economics is not just for girls. "If you stop and think about it," says Mrs. Bauer, sewing teacher, "all the great chefs and famous fashion designers are men, with few exceptions. This is why we should encourage more boys to take Home Ec. It is so much more than just cooking and sewing."

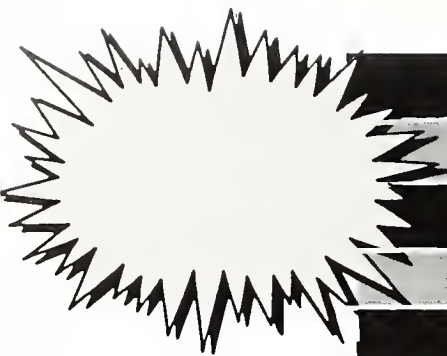

Mrs. McCoy, typing teacher, also comments that more boys are entering her class. Everyone agrees typing is important "for college work, for office careers, for using the TTY, for personal enjoyment, for computers and letters. Starting next year I will be getting students who have already had experience with keyboard because of computer class. This should speed up the learning process in typing."

Lionel Jiminez learns sewing, a new option boys have taken.

They Are Our PR People

The Student Council was reestablished in 1980 to help understand the government system in school and have better rapport with adults. We have set up three committees to advance toward this goal: administrators-faculty-student committee, cafeteria committee, and activity committee.

The Student Council's purpose is not only to teach leadership but "it helps everyone to solve the problems," said James Kemp, the president of Student Council.

"I was very proud of our students' behavior during the visit of MSSD students in October. They gave the MSSD students tours of our campus as well as a welcome party," said Ms. Summerlin, Student Council sponsor. For teacher's appreciation day, some students surprised the teachers by giving them delicious, red apples and serving orange juice and donuts in the teacher's lounge. Teachers were very impressed!

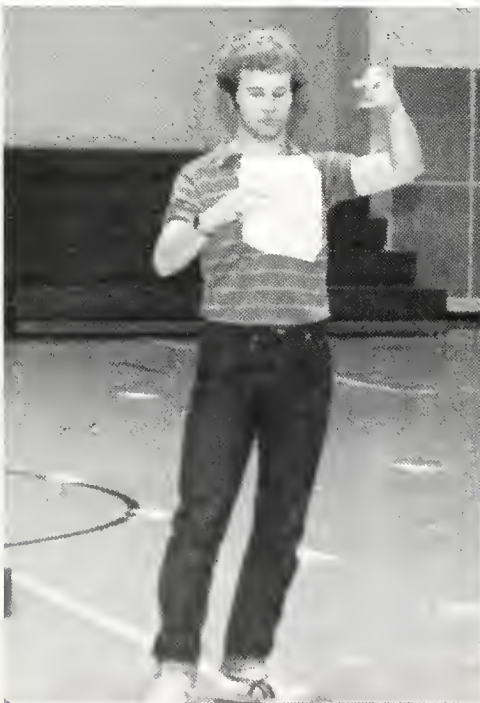

In the fall Shanon Maple let Dwight Casler eat one donut for Teacher's Appreciation Day.

They Promote Leadership

The Junior National Association of the Deaf is the oldest organization on campus. Established Nov. 14, 1967, this organization introduces its members to the basic understanding of youth leadership of the National Association of the Deaf.

"Joining nourishes adult development" is their slogan. It encourages young deaf people to join any organization to develop themselves into better adults. It promotes the future deaf world by teaching and working with deaf youth of today.

"I like to be involved with Jr. NAD because it helps me to stand and speak candidly about myself. Everyone should learn how to be a leader" says Andrew Metz.

Andrew Metz as Thomas Gallaudet shows Patti Dillingham, Alice, how to spell "hat" in the sand. On Dec. 9, 1983, in the auditorium we celebrated Thomas Gallaudet's birthday with a short play given by the Jr. NAD.

Students Are Involved

Girls' Club and Boys' Club are both organizations whereby students learn about themselves, about their future, and perform services for the community.

The Girls' Club was established to help girls develop desirable habits, attitudes, interests, personality and character patterns. The girls work to understand many problems involved with being deaf.

The girls who participate are growing in the different areas of leadership, merchandising, and assisting others. They discuss their hope for suitable jobs or positions in the deaf community when they complete their educational program.

They sell pizza every two weeks on Sunday in the dorm and also nachos with cheese or sauce. With the money earned, they go camping or to Kings Island in May.

The Boys' Club also helps to establish good leadership. Their project is to help the needy people when they need help. The boys are motivated to learn and work, including their sponsor, Sei-Tu Taylor.

They Learn Business

Junior Achievement teaches young people about the free enterprise system of business. The ISD group competes with other JA companies for many awards including Blue Chip Company. They attend the special events such as the Lilly JA sales, the JA Recognition Dinner and the Future Unlimited Banquet. They enjoy working hard together to be a good organization.

During the year they go to a hockey game, a dance, and receive awards at the JA banquet at the Convention Center. They learn the principles of business. It helps young people to achieve their goals in the future. It may be valuable for getting jobs later on.

Wildfire Thrills

Behind the curtains back stage before a performance Wildfire members hurry dressing, putting on their make-up, and practicing their parts. "When is it my turn? Where is my bag? I can't find my shoe!" cry various ones as they fly around. In a corner some nervously await their turn on stage. When the program is over, "Oh what a relief! Everyone quickly packs his bag, jumps into the waiting bus starving to eat. They laugh; they play; they tease and cry hunger. So — they go to the usual place, McDonalds.

Wildfire performances include many skills besides signing. Some students took karate to include movements in their performances. The mime troupe studied with a professional mime. They add more skills to Wildfire than just dancing and sign-singing.

They all practice hard to show emotions, especially the mimes. Trying to keep their mouths from moving and not using sign languages is their hardest part.

Wildfire had a special program at Valapariso for special handicapped students. They taught them a sign-singing song "Unity," interpreted by Gigi Bartholomew. After the Valpo program a little boy asked Beetle McClendon to teach him the dance to "Beat It". The boy learned well. The students crowded around them watching and cheering as the boy smiled with a tear in his eye. "Unity" closes every program. It is the theme of Wildfire because its members feel they need love, trust, faith and especially unity.

Life In The Dorm Is Fun

Patti Dillingham, Arlene Downing, and Debbie Kirby have a blast eating ice cream and elephant ears at the Indiana State Fair, during the first week of school.

I.S.D. has changed much since the 1940's. Many rules governing our lives on campus have changed.

In talking with former graduate Kathy Walters of 1968, I found that many of the after school activities were different — 4-teens, Girl Scouts, Brownies, and Drama Club were some of the examples of activities we had then.

Winona Alter, 1949, said that "no dating was allowed, but when there was, we were not allowed to hold hands at all. The boys and girls met twice a week and were separated at meal time."

"Punishments were horrible," says Leslie Massey, 1943. "We had to dig coal, wash windows, and mow grass with a hand mower."

Nat'l Champions Win Again!

This exciting season ended with 7 wins and 2 loses. For the second straight year 29 ISD Orioles won the National Deaf Championship! Announced by Deaf American, this award is based on comparison of records, schedules, and opinions of Deaf School coaches and "scouts" of the American Athletic Association of the Deaf.

We defeated M.S.S.D. which excited everyone who watched the game. Coach Ernie Grubb said, "We knew M.S.S.D. was strong but we welcomed the chance to get nose-to-nose with them. Winning that game was a thrill to the coaches, the team, and the fans."

Andrew Metz established several records — 1 year rushing — 1598 yards, career rushing — 4077 yards. This also is a national deaf prep record for a career.

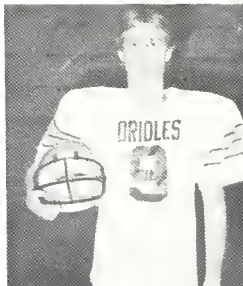

Metz was chosen for the UPI All State 1st team, AP All State 2nd team and Bloomington-Herald Telephone Class A All State Team. Captains Andrew Metz — National Deaf Player of the Year, Scott Voltz and Mike Stultz were named to the All American team. Steve Brown received honorable mention.

They Made Us Proud

After school cheerleaders run to the dorm, change clothes, head for the gym and warm up for practice. They work on their chants, cheers, dance and some new ideas. Tired from school work they patiently work hard to make the school proud.

Because of their everyday hard work, they have won several awards. At camp at Purdue the varsity won first place in the dancing competition for their "Pac-man Fever." They received the spirit stick and a key voted on by all the squads for being the best squad at camp. Besides Purdue the varsity competed in the Marion County Fair competition, winning the spirit stick and placing fifth out of nineteen schools in overall performance. Again they participated in the Indiana State Fair against fifty-two schools and learned new ideas.

The most exciting event was winning first place at the CSSD Basketball Tournament in Kansas. Everyday the varsity practiced, discussed and made plans. With all their hard work and enthusiasm they made the school proud of them.

"During the season we kept having our ups and downs," says Coach Robbi Noland. "Sometimes it seemed more downs than ups," she added. "Of course our 3 wins were definitely great moments for the team, especially the first win over Sheridan. I had never seen the girls play so much as a team. Their minds were all into the game with nothing but victory on their minds and it showed," she said proudly. Carie Scales said she thought Sheridan was the toughest opponent this year. "I felt very excited, happy, and hugged the team," she said.

The team placed 5th in the Wisconsin tournament. Arlene Downing the team MVP, was chosen All-Star.

Coach Robbi Noland blows up at Regina Kyle (12), Debbie Kirby (22), Ryla Hartman (14), Carie Scales (25), Arlene

I would like to say that all of these girls are a great bunch of girls. I feel this was one of the best groups ever! They had many close games and yet they tried their best, working hard and pushing themselves to become very good athletes.

We Are The Champions!

Our opening win over Park Tudor, winning the CSSD championship and establishing a 13 game winning streak were the highlights of the season. Defense, rebounding, teamwork, good spirit and the right attitude for hard work helped break the school's record, 17 wins in a single season and 13 wins in a row.

"The CSSD championship was a very satisfying one for ISD since we had been in the frustrating position of 2nd or 3rd place for three years. The boys dedicated the first part of the season to prepare themselves for the tournament. They prepared themselves well and were obviously the best team at the tournament," says Coach Robert Kovatch.

Forwards Mike Stultz and Scott Voltz, and Center Daric Brye made the 1983 CSSD All Star team. "We would not have been such a strong team if Kelly McKee, Mike Penn, Mark Pearcy, Jim Hinders, and Larry Wilkins had not worked so hard against our starting five every night in practice. Often they were harder to practice against than some of our opponents," replied Mr. Kovatch.

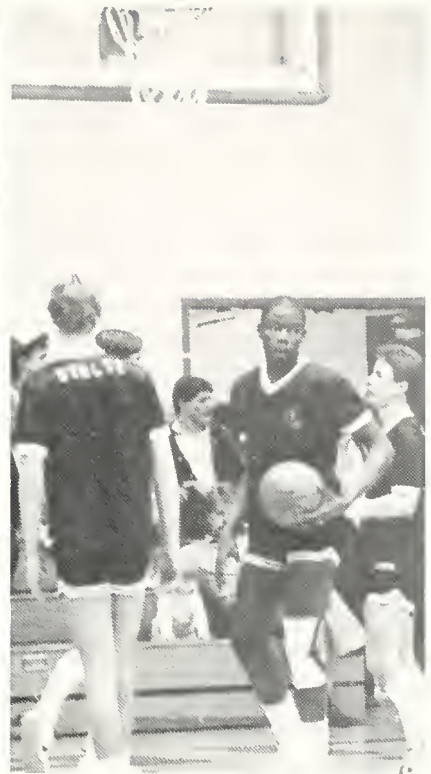

Scott Voltz (34), John Hazelett (40), Mike Stultz (44), and Brian Hartwell (32) stand ready to rebound the ball during the Wisconsin game.

They Finally Beat Baptist

Junior Varsity boys basketball team finished 15-3 with a conference record of 7-0. They won 12 straight games before finally losing to Morton Memorial, Ritter and Tri High.

The most difficult opponent was Indpls. Baptist, "After my 4th year as coach, we finally beat them by 2 points, and the game was close all the way to the end," relates Coach Mr. Catt.

Three players led the team in scoring. Rocky Murray, Dwight Casler and Vincent Miller had 8 points per game. Murray led in rebounds with 5.9 per game and Miller had 4.6.

Rocky Murray jumps high to get the tip during the ISD-Kentucky Deaf game.

The Comeback Was Terrific

Winning 3rd place at CSSD in Kansas and having Kim Mann and Tracey Parker named to the CSSD All Star team highlighted our season.

During the game against Missouri for 3rd place, we played terribly at first. At the end of the 3rd quarter we trailed 24 points. Then we began our comeback. We outscored them 26 to 4. "We were tied at the final buzzer 50-50. From that point, I expected to win and we did 56-51," said Coach Reifel.

Our team's greatest strength was our defense. We often out-rebounded or out played the opponents. Shooters who can shoot anywhere beyond 10 feet from the basket was our weakness.

Junior, Donna Webb, a well-known thief on the court stole the ball an average of 4.2 times a game and her shooting average was 9.1 points per game. The most valuable player was Kim Mann and the most improved player was Davanna Beeson.

Be The Best

Wrestlers ended successfully with a 6-4 dual meet record and 2nd, 4th and 5th in tournaments. Several boys earned recognition for their efforts. Andrew Metz continued his athletic success by capturing 3 regular season tournament championships and a sectional championship. He lost a controversial 7-6 decision to Warren Central's Bary Bacon, ranked 5th in the state, during the regional competition.

Rick Hancock became the first person to ever win 4 consecutive championships in the Midwest Deaf Tournament. James Leaf also won the Midwest Deaf Tournament, the Blind School Invitational and 2nd in the state sectional. Eddie Bertram finished with an 18-3 record winning the Midwest Deaf, Park-Tudor Invitational, and advancing to regional competition.

Both coaches say congratulations to these fine young men and a big "thank you" to the matmaids who brought spirit to the meets.

Experience Was The Key

It was a winning season this year for these baseball players. They improved much since last year. Coach Catt says, "I expected another good year this year because of the many returnees from last year and the experiences they brought back." "The highlight of this season was winning the MISC Tourney and having a winning season . . ."

The most difficult opponent was Baptist High. Our team won easily, 12-0, at the first of the season. But during the MISC Tourney, they had to hustle to win 6-4. Then they also beat Bethesda Christian 11-4 in their final game of MISC Tourney. Their greatest strength was having a good pitching staff; Dwight Casler did an outstanding job which helped the team. They all played good defense.

Look at Dwight Casler's reaction right after striking out.

We Jumped High And Ran

"Chris Walters and I were very pleased with the boys' performances this year because they had a small number of outdoor practice days due to bad weather," said Coach Dan Fitzpatrick. "Their experience and dedication were the factors for a very satisfying season with a record of 5 and 2. We also placed second in all three big meets.

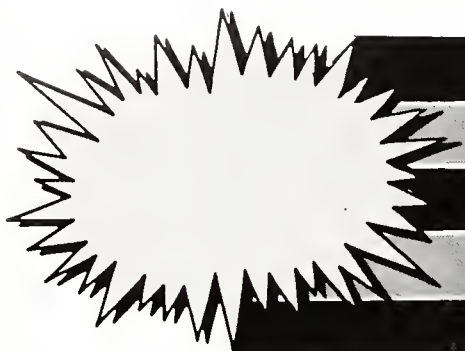

The Four M's — Andrew Metz, Rocky Murray, Vincent Miller, and Kelly McKee, set a new school record in the 400M relay with an incredible time of 43.77. Kerry Stewart claimed the 400M record with a 52.8. Mark Percy flipped over the bar set at 6'4" to beat his school high jump record. He also earned the MVP award. Kerry Stewart earned the MIP and Kelly McKee the Charles Whisman Mental Attitude award."

Middle School

An orderly transition from IP to High School in the areas of behavior and accepting responsibility is the goal of the Middle School department. A greater emphasis is also placed on academic work. Students this year have accepted a greater responsibility for their behavior says Mr. Beam, supervising teacher. He also added that the "Middle School staff comprises the finest staff anywhere, as does the whole teaching staff at ISD. I have known many different teachers from many different schools, and none were any better than here."

Intermediate Primary

A visit from signing clowns from Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus, Career Education Day, a costume party for Halloween and a Valentine's Day party highlighted IP activities.

When asked what goals his department has worked on and achieved, Mr. Houk replied, "The new language program in full operation helps the students improve much in their understanding and use of language. Also a new computer has been purchased for the IP department and will be used by the students."

The students have participated with the learning units in the dormitory and learning field trips. Several students entered a national art contest. Johnny McLean won an award.

Primary Department

With children ranging 2-7 years old, Primary Department embarked on an exciting year. The children had lunch in a Japanese tea house, had a Thanksgiving feast with Pilgrims and Indians, and learned the hula from a lady from Hawaii.

All of these activities have been based around our conceptually based units. Each class has a different language unit each month. Nearly all of the activities in the classroom were based on the concept assigned to that class.

Miss Moon added, "Through these activities and others like them, the children will learn the concepts that have been assigned for each class and will be able to make generalizations that were never made in the past."

To show is to remember
To do is to understand

SUMMER DEAF CAMP

A Fun and Educational Week for ALL deaf and hearing-impaired children and youth.

Ages 6 to 15 years old, at Camp Adventure

Ages 16 to 25 years old, Canoe and Camping Trip

The 2nd Week of August (EVERY YEAR)

- ★ Bible stories ★ Swimming ★ Canoeing ★ Crafts ★ Hiking
- ★ Volleyball ★ Softball ★ "Home in the Woods"
- ★ Talent Night ("Gong Show") ★ Special Events
- ★ Optional Classes ★ Games & Sports

PURPOSE: Time for fun and fellowship in the out-of-doors, Bible study and sharing, sports, crafts, hobbies, canoeing, games, and interesting learning experiences. Swimming is part of the program in a splendid pool. There's a meadow for softball, volleyball, and basketball. And you can hike in all directions.

LOCATION:

Deaf Camp is held at "Camp Adventure," a beautiful rolling camp site covering 110 acres of wooded land and several islands in the back-waters of Lake Webster. Camp Adventure is located just southeast of North Webster, Indiana. We explore the woods, canoe in the waters. Our meals are eaten in a fine rustic lodge and we sleep in comfortable cabins nearby.

COST:

Costs vary from year to year and are of course, kept at a minimum. Financial help for those who need it.

We Enjoy PTCO Day

Middle School students, Lisa Holbrook and Doug Green, decide where to start the fun outside the gym during PTCO Day.

Billy Powell walks through the crowd anxiously to have some fun on PTCO Day.

Barry Gordon takes a curious look as the clown bends to communicate with him.

Cheryl Rucker, who graduated from ISD, returns to have fun and to chat with other friends and families all around on PTCO Day.

Dawn Ashley checks the time limit for the Moon Walker as Loretta Lewis looks on.

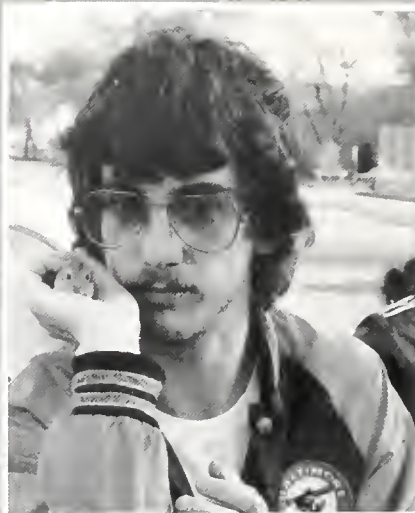

Buffie Jones and Rocky Murray take charge of their freshman class's activity, "Moon Walker," at the PTCO Day festivities.

Picnics And Banquets Are Fun

During the Senior Picnic Richardo DeLuna tosses hamburgers like a professional chef.

After playing outside PUD students have their picnic inside the building because of the cold spring weather.

Seniors Angela Barnes, Roberta Sorrell and Sarah Nickels watch the softball games at the senior-staff picnic May 8.

Tammy Miller waits for David Bailey to finish playing with the charcoal lighter during the senior picnic outside the Caskey gym.

Tammy Miller and Anna Hoppenjans cover the grill with foil to cook hamburgers for hungry seniors.

Graduation May 18th

Many seniors gather in the coed lounge the morning of their graduation to share their celebration, and to write in their memory books.

The senior class guest speaker at graduation, Governor Orr, signs "I Love You."

Mark Percy receives his diploma and plans to go to Gallaudet College.

Pat Wilson and others sign "Hold the Moment" to end graduation ceremonies.

Andy Taylor and Natalie Latham are proud to receive their diplomas but maybe a little sad to see it all end.

Sarah Nickels, Salutatorian and Chris Besinger, Valedictorian walk out with many honors.

Thank you to all photographers who gave of their time after school taking photographs at extra-curricular events, to Mr. Kovatch and Mr. Stanfill for lending support during our mid-year photography crisis, and to all teachers who patiently had their photographs retaken and retaken.
